1. Burning Setting

- Open Tray : Just click on the Open Tray button to open the tray of the selected drive and insert the appropriate disc.
- Erase : Erase re-writable disk.
- Eject After Burn : Eject the disc after burn process.
- Finalize : This option usually doesn't need to be changed, since finalizing a disc prevents you from changing it again later. However, there are two circumstances where you might want to create a finalized disc:
 1. Some CD players (the kind in a car or your stereo, not in a computer) cannot read CDs that are not finalized. However, the majority of these devices will accept them.
 2. You can squeeze slightly more data onto a CD if you finalize it. So if your files are slightly too big for the CD activating the finalize option might help.
- Verify : If this option is selected, the program will verify the contents of the disc after the recording (the files on the disc are compared with the original files). This is a useful feature if you want to be absolutely certain that the files on the disc are correct (for example if you make a backup of important files). If any errors are found this is usually an indication that there is some sort of incompatibility between your CD/DVD Disc writer and the recordable disc you are writing to. Decreasing the write speed or using higher-quality recordable discs can solve these problems.

2. Burning

- Burning : Start burning.
- Advanced Burn : Start burning in advanced mode.
- Burning Progress : See the detail burning status.

- Remove : You can remove files using the Remove button.
- Move Up: Use the Move Up buttons to change the order of the tracks.
- Move Down : Use the Move Down button to change the order of the tracks.
- Play : If you want to listen to the track before you burn them to CD just select the track and click then on the Play button. The track you are listening to is not normalized (see below). It's the original track.
- Stop : Click on the Stop button to stop the playing of the current track.
- Duration on Audio-CD : According to the length of the tracks you add to your play list, this figure displays the duration for a standard Audio CD.
- Back : Move back to previous stage.
- Next : Go forward to next stage.
- Help : See manual of Fireman.

If you click "Next" button, you can move to Burn page.
